

Who's a sissy?

For years conservatives have argued that those who support conserving energy are sissies. For years they have argued that those who support alternative energy sources are tree-huggers.

Now we see Russia waging war in Georgia and the West stands by powerless because much of Western Europe depends on Russian oil and gas.

Now we see Iran using its petrodollars to fund Hamas and Hezbollah in their drive to undermine U.S. interests and we can't stop them.

Now we see $4-a-gallon gas and President Bush begging Saudi Arabia to produce more oil.

Now who's the sissy?
