

Support for police officers

The Sept. 22 stories about two police officers show once again how dangerous the job can be and how the families also have to endure the consequences of someone's actions. Ben Campbell from Copley Township may "feel like a policeman who did his job." However how many of us would have the courage to track down a person who just killed seven people?

Then there is Mark Dodez from Springfield Township, who was also "just doing his job" following a hit-speed chase. While looking for evidence thrown out of the car, he was hit by a drunken driver.

These are just two incidents that made the news. Many do not. As the aunt of a police officer I respectfully ask that voters keep this in mind and please vote no on Issue 2 on Nov. 8.

Eileen Matias

Akron